Speaker 1:

Okay. Go.

Carole Johnson:

I worked full time for the center, and then I applied for another job at UMass Dartmouth. I started my job in 1981, becoming the first ever of disabled students. That job I love, because I could help students improve their quality of life by providing the accommodations that they needed to achieve their goals. I lived a very fulfilling life, and I thank God everyday for... Everything. Thank you.
